

Or will you be a slugard?

Will you be an ant?

Go to the ant O sluggard.
Consider her ways and be wise.
Proverbs 6:6

I will help my family clean the house so it will be ready if company drops by.

I will study for school so I will be ready to do what I need to when I am a grown-up.

I will help my family plant a garden so we will have good food to eat.

I will learn all about God so I can teach others about Him.

I will throw my clothes and toys on the floor. I can always pick them up later.

I would rather watch TV than do my homework tonight. There will always be time to study later.

I will play ball while my family works in the garden. Who wants to get their hands dirty anyway.

I think the Bible is boring so I'm not going to study it. Besides, the preacher is supposed to teach people about God, not me.
